

Mark Rittmanic

Founder and CEO

Mark is the founder of FortéOne, and leads business development, designs processes for serving clients, and identifies growth opportunities for the firm.

A passionate and results-oriented leader, Mark has conceived, built, led, and sold several successful businesses. He is the founder and inspirational leader of FortéOne, and he leads business development, designs processes for serving clients, and identifies growth opportunities for the firm.

Since 2000, he has assisted hundreds of companies in the manufacturing, distribution, consumer products, construction, and services industries. Mark began his business career in banking and financial services and has also built and sold a number of technology companies. Mark is a former U.S. Army captain.

Mark holds a bachelor's degree from Davidson College and a Master of Business Administration from Southern Illinois University. He previously sat on the board of visitors for Davidson College and served on the board of a private equity firm. Mark is also a founding member of a Chicago-based CEO group.